What are liquid funds?

- ❖ Liquid funds are open ended mutual fund schemes which help manage short term cash surpluses of investors and endeavor to provide optimal returns with low levels of risk and high liquidity
- ❖ These funds generate returns through interest accrual by investing in money market instruments like commercial papers, certificate of deposits, Repos/Tri-party Repo on G-sec or T-bills and in short term debt instruments

When should you invest in Liquid Funds?

Ideally one should invest in liquid funds, when there is surplus money lying idle and needs to be deployed for a short period of time. These funds would invest in very short term debt & money market instruments (upto 91 days), which generally have good credit quality, providing easy liquidity and returns in line with that prevailing at the market conditions at the shorter end of the yield curve.

Benefits

- ❖ Minimal capital Risk: Liquid funds invest in good credit quality assets, signifying lower credit risk. The scheme invests in instruments with a maturity profile of 91 days or below. The very short maturity of the Securities helps minimize the MTM volatility in the portfolio thus minimizing capital risk
- ❖ Return Efficiency: Investors start earning returns from the date of investment itself thus minimizing any return leak- age
- ❖ Optimizing cash management: Investors could even invest for as less as one day, in order to optimally use the fund for their cash management purposes

Nippon India Liquid Fund

Is an open ended liquid scheme with the objective to generate optimal returns consistent with moderate levels of risk and high liquidity by investing in debt and money market instruments.

It will be a mix portfolio with a varying allocation to the above mentioned instruments with a view to optimize returns along with adequate liquidity. The fund intends to maintain an average maturity in the range of 30-75 days.

Note: Above mentioned current investment strategy is based on the prevailing market conditions and is subject to change within the limits of the SID basis the Fund manager's view.
